Case report

Fibrous Cortical Defect (Non Ossifying Fibroma) Lower End Femur with Rheumatoid Arthritis – Rare Association

Santosh S Jeevannavar, Keshav S Shenoy, Ravi M Daddimani, Jyoti S Jeevannavar

Keywords:
Fibrous Cortical Defect
Rheumatoid Arthritis
Bone Grafting

Abstract

Non ossifying fibroma or fibrous cortical defects are common benign proliferations of fibrous tissue that occur in metaphyseal regions of long bones. Many are asymptomatic and are found incidentally on routine x rays done for other reasons. Fibrous cortical defects associated with other diseases are rare and sparsely reported. We describe a case of fibrous cortical defect lower end of femur with rheumatoid polyarthritis occurring in the same patient.

© Copyright 2010 BioMedSciDirect Publications IJBMIR - ISSN: 0976-6685. All rights reserved.